NEW ERA INSTITUTE WAS ONE OF THE BEST HELD IN DISTRICT

Delegates From Eight Churches Take Part In Conference Here

SPLENDID EVENING MEETING

Representatives from eight out of the eleven Presbyterian churches in this immediate section took part in the New Era Institute, which was held in the Washington Avenue Presbyterian church on Thursday The sessions began at 10 o'clock in the morning and continued throughout the day, concluding at 9:30 in the evening after a day filled with conferences and discussions on the various phases of the New Era movement

Dr. Buchanan, the Pittsburg Presbytery's representative in this district, was in charge of the meeting, while Dr. McGarragh, Dr. Hutchinson and Dr. Bush had charge of special phases of the movement which they presented at various times during the day.

The program was followed practically as it was printed, and those in attendance received some very interesting instruction along the line they are expected to work during the coming year in order to fully carry out the provisions of the New Era movement, which is looked upon as the most comprehensive program ever outlined by the Presbyterian church.

The conferences were also features of the meeting, and many of the different phases of the movement were explained to those who have been appointed in the different churches to be leaders along particular lines. These leaders represent the spiritual life of the congregation, stewardship, social service, mobilization and finances, all of which were presented in a clear and concise form and which outlined the activities of these different departments in a very comprehensive manner.

At 6 o'clock the male representatives from the different churches, over fifty in number, were entertained at dinner in the dining room of the church, at the conclusion of which Dr. Bush spoke on men's work and gave an outline of the New Era idea of carrying on this important branch of church work. He favored the Brotherhood idea for men's activities, and dwelt at length on the advantages to be derived from directing men's work under such an organization

At 7:45 o'clock a general meeting was held in the auditorium of the church, at which addresses were made by Dr. Hutchinson of Kittanning ,and Dr. McGarragh, both of which were of the most interesting character on different phases of the work as outlined in this New Era movement. Both of them emphasized the need for more activity on the part of the church member in looking after the work of the church in every department and in place of saying "let George do it," assume a share of the responsibilities and help lighten the burden of the pastor who in many instances has more than he can properly look after.

The institute was pronounced by those who are conversant with affairs as one of the most successful held in the Pittsburg district and expressions of the most favorable character were heard from all of the visitors

HEAVY DAMAGES AGAINST DRIVER

In the Fayette county courts at Uniontown on Wednesday. J. C. Gregg was found guilty of negligence in operating his automobile and a jury returned a verdict awarding Mrs. Elizabeth A. Provins a verdict for $3,204 for the death of her husband, Silas Provins.

The suit was instituted for $50,000 and was brought by Mrs. Provins against Gregg for the death of her husband, who was killed when the automobile driven by Gregg knocked him from the ferry boat between New Geneva and Greensboro.

Provins, who was 70 years of age, with William Buffle, operated a ferry between Greensboro and New Geneva. One evening Gregg drove his machine down to the ferry to cross the river and in driving on to the boat both Provins and Buffle were precipitated into the water. Provins was so badly injured that he died some 34 hours later, but Buffle escaped without injury. A steep grade marks the approach to the ferry, which however becomes less pronounced about 18 feet from the water's edge.

The contention of the plaintiff was that Gregg drove down the grade so recklessly that it was with difficulty that he stopped the machine after boarding the ferry. The defense claimed that the boat was not properly anchored and that no lights were shown to guide the automobile down the steep bank to the ferry approach.

Complete Organization For Jewish War Relief Campaign

The American Jewish Relief Committee are putting on a campaign to raise $35,000,000.00. The quota for Washington County is about $70,000.00. The Charleroi District's quota is $10,200.00.

This is the first time, in the history of their race, the Jews are asking help for their people from those who are not their own blood.

At an organization meeting held Wednesday night in the Borough Building The Executive Committee, consisting of Kerfoot W Daly, R. H. Rush and George W. Risbeck and Michael Rosenbloom, were elected to handle the campaign.

Kerfoot W. Daly was elected Chairman, Michael Rosenbloom, Vice Chairman, John Stevens, Vice Chairman, R. H. Rush, Treasurer and George W. Risbeck, Secretary, S. L. Woodward Chairman Industrial Committee, Harry E. Price, Publicity Chairman, Irwin Lischer, Advertising Chairman; Hugh E. Fergus, Chairman of the Four Minute Speakers, J. B. Tussing, President Precinct Chairmen and Major H. J. Repman, Chairman Returned Soldiers.

The Jewish ladies have agreed to take charge of the house to house canvass and will need considerable help from the other ladies in the town.

In conjunction with the Jewish ladies, the Ministers of all denominations have been requested to speak from their pulpits in behalf of this worthy cause. The Executive Committee will appreciate any aid given in the movement. The names of the Precinct workers and team captains will be given at a later date in order that people being solicited will know those calling on them have authority to make collections.

PROPOSE UNION HIGH SCHOOL IN MONESSEN

At a meeting of the Monessen school board, held Wednesday afternoon, plans were discussed for floating a $300,000 bond issue, with a view to the erection of a union high school for Monessen, Belle Vernon and Webster. The movement has been brought about by the unprecedented attendance in the junior high school of the big borough.

Last year the junior high at Monessen had only 200 pupils, but this year the enrollment is over 400, many of the pupils being from Webster and Belle Vernon, neither of which communities has a high school It is said the enrollment of the Monessen schools is close to the 5,000 mark and for two years the rooms have been crowded If the bond issue should prevail it would be the largest ever proposed in Monessen for the purpose of building schools

WILL RE-DEDICATE ON 9TH OF OCTOBER

The congregation of the First Christian church hopes to be able to re-dedicate their church on the second Sunday of November which will be the 9th. In addition to increasing the capacity of their basement, where a large room has been fitted up for the Men's Bible class, and which will be available for social gatherings, a number of other improvements have been made, and others are to be added At present the auditorium is being re-decorated, and this work will require about three weeks to complete Church services will not be interfered with, the congregation using the auditorium as usual.

At the dedicatory exercises it is the expectation of the congregation to have Rev. Cloyd Goodnight, president of Bethany College, with them fir the day He is expected to preach the dedicatory sermon.

The local public schools were dismissed Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock on account of the extreme heat. A little heat is kept in the buildings in the morning to ward off the dampness, but it was not the heat from the furnaces, but from the atmosphere that caused Superintendent Pollock to call a halt to the sessions.

A Number Of Warrants Sworn out in Donora and are Being Served

SITUATION REMAINS QUIET

No material change in conditions are reported from Donora in an industrial way this afternoon. It is said that an additional number of men have reported for work, and that additional departments were placed in operation this morning. The workmen are coming and going without molestation and it is believed that if these conditions continue it will not be many days before the mill will be operating at almost normal speed.

The only incident out of the ordinary reported this morning was the swearing out of a bunch of informations against a number of foreigners, most of whom are aliens, for having uttered threats of violence against men who have returned to work Some of these threats were verbal, while others were sent by letter Burgess Cox, Constable Titus and the State Police were given the informations and expected to have all the men wanted in custody before the afternoon They will be give a hearing before one of the local justices of the peace before the day is over

No disorder of any kind has been reported from the town, the best of order being maintained If these conditions continue it is the opinion of many that the mills will continue to return to the mills and resume their work. It is said that many of the former employes are kept out of the mill through fear, a number of threats having been made against the men as well as their families. If the police authorities can show they are able to handle this phase of the situation it will be a big factor in bringing the strike to a close in Donora

CAMPAIGN WILL CLOSE SATURDAY

The Salvation Army Home Service campaign will close on Saturday and while we were not able to reach our goal for $5,000 dollars, the Committee in charge aremaking every possible effort to have all reports and be ready to make a complete and final report during the early part of the coming week A Representative will be at the campaign headquarters until Saturday, October 4th, to receive any subscriptions that have not been reported.

Corns 'Tween Toes? Use Easy "Gets-It"

Any Corn or Callus Comes Off Peacefully, Gloriously. Never Fails.

It is easy for "Gets-It" to reach "hard-to-get-at" corns, and better yet, it is easy to remove them, because "Gets-It" makes them come right off just like a banana peel. You can try to dig or drag out your corns with a knife, or slice them with a "bloody" razor, or use bandages and tape and wrap up your toe into a package, but that's the "treat-'em-rough," painful, foolish way. Use 2 or 3 drops of "Gets-It"—that's the peaceful, sure, common-sense way that never fails. You reach the corn easily with the little glass rod in the cork of every "Gets-It" bottle. It does not hurt the true flesh. Try it, trot and smile! It's a blessing; never fails. "Gets-It," the only sure, guaranteed, money-back corn-remover, costs but a trifle at any drug store. Mfd by E. Sold in Charleroi and recommended as the world's best corn remedy by Frank J. John and Piper's Pharmacy.

EARTHS IN SOLAR SYSTEM

Thousands of Asteroids, Mostly Small, Known to Be Swinging Around the Sun.

Swinging around the sun between the planets Mars and Jupiter there are more than a thousand little earths, ranging in diameter from three to 485 miles. These are known as the asteroids, and although they pursue their individual ways in the solar system much like our own globe they are too small to support any sort of life, being unable to hold an atmosphere.

From time to time new asteroids are discovered, not by astronomers patiently peering at the heavens through a telescope, but by means of the photographic plate. A thousand have already been found, but it is likely that thousands of smaller asteroids remain to be discovered.

The four largest asteroids, Ceres, Pallas, Vesta and Juno, are respectively 485, 304, 243 and 118 miles in diameter. A few more asteroids may exceed 100 miles in diameter, but the great majority are simply huge rocks five miles or less in diameter. Unlike the major planets, the asteroids are not spheres, but simply jagged rocks, huge mountains hurtling through space, whirling round and round on their axis as they journey about the sun.

Possibly, as some have suggested, they may be the larger fragments of periodic comets of unusual size that have in the course of ages been shorn of their appendages.

LIKE GEM IN RARE SETTING

Lying amid the heights of encircling mountains as a mere dewdrop in a titanic crinkle of the continental surface, is the 50-mile length of Lake Kluahne, once reputed source of the Yukon, flowing from it 1,200 miles or more north, northwest and southwest to Bering sea. Barely 350 miles south of the arctic circle, southern boundary of perpetual snow and ice, it is compassed about with mountain ranges and peaks rising abruptly from its waters, says Christian Science Monitor.

The shores of the lake are bare of vegetation, save for the dwarf birch and the hardy northern willow, tundra grasses and lesser brush.

Lapped in the perpetual silence of the unpeopled North, sternly isolated, untouched by human presence, save for at long intervals a casual Indian or passing prospector, Lake Kluahne has in its very silence and sternness of aspect a beauty of that hardly expressed, indefinable, but none the less deeply felt nature which, conscious of it or not, is a main factor in holding the prospector or other man of the open places in his wandering ways, in the sand deserts of the South, or the mountain wilderness of the extreme Northwest alike.

Diamond Setting.

The following method of setting diamonds has been found to be the best: First drill the hole for the diamond to the usual depth, a little deeper than the greatest dimensions of the stone. The drilling should be done without lubricant, as oil of any kind tends to prevent the spelter from flowing smoothly.

This being done, the hole should be closed in slightly, just enough to make it out of round. The spelter is now poured into the hole, filling it completely, and the diamond, held in a pair of tweezers, is pushed into the liquid spelter in the hole until it strikes the bottom. In doing this an amount of spelter equal to the displacement of the diamond is pushed out of the hole, and when this drop of spelter makes its appearance it is certain that there are no vacant spots under the stone.

After the spelter has cooled the end of the rod in which the diamond is located can be shaped up in the customary manner. The fact that the hole is slightly out of round prevents the core of spelter from working out of the end of the rod.

There are men who in a lesser sphere have been givers of gifts which are enjoyed by millions, though their own names may have slipped out of the memory of the world, says the Boston Transcript.

Such a man was Ogier Ghiselin de Busbecq. He was born in the pleasant town of Comines, in Flanders, now half French, half Belgian, with the River Lys between, almost four hundred years ago and educated in that university at Louvain which now, alas is laid low. Busbecq was a collector, and, when he was sent by the Emperor Ferdinand as ambassador to the Sultan Suleiman the Magnificent, on his return brought manuscript and coins and plants home to Vienna. And among these plants was the lilac.

Ancient Battle Standards.

It is probable that the first flag was carried by the Saracens in their battles with the Crusaders, the latter adopting the idea, which thus spread over Europe. Long before that there had been national standards, however, as the ancient Egyptians carried before their hosts the figure of a sacred animal on a spear. A stuffed cat impaled on a stick was the forerunner of the banners now used. In the days of the old Persian empire a blacksmith's apron was carried aloft at the head of the army, while the standard of the Turks was a horse's tail.

"I SUFFERED SEVEN YEARS"

Was Eventually Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Philadelphia, Pa.—"I suffered for seven long years with a lame back, irregularities and pain. I had one physician after another but they did me no good. I read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and gave it a trial and in a short time I felt benefited and am now feeling fine, and without weakness or pain. Many of my friends have also taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and been helped by it."—Mrs. MARGARET NESS, 1846 E. Hazzard St., Philadelphia., Pa.

Women who suffer from displacements, irregularities, inflammation, ulceration, backache, sideache, headaches or "the blues" should not rest until they have given this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Cause for Rejoicing.

Leonard was walking with his nurse and met a friend of his mother, who proceeded to engage him in conversation in a most ... and enlivened manner. On parting with her, Leonard was silent for a long time, and then said with a gentle sigh of thankfulness: "I am so glad, Sarah, that I've got a nice, gloomy mother."

Japanese Hairdressers.

The professional coiffeur for men is a much older occupation in Japan than that for women. There are records as far back as the thirteenth century of male hairdressers for men; for the samurai especially were very particular as to how the hair was done up, though as a profession the coiffeur was of somewhat later growth.

Good Law, for Germany.

The Delbrueck law, which became effective in Germany early in 1914, provides for Germans retaining their allegiance to Germany while becoming citizens of the United States or any other country. In assuming the new citizenship a German subject, if it suits him, continues his German citizenship and allegiance in Germany according to this law.

The principal of a college was lecturing has staff of teachers upon efficiency. "What," he demanded, "would be thought of a glovemaker who at the close of the season found 10 per cent of his stock returned because it fell below standard requirements? Why should we require a 100 per cent efficiency of the glove-maker and only 90 per cent of a teacher?" "Because," responded a teacher, "he can select his kids!"

Tempers and Tight Collars.

Dr. Leonard Williams, lecturing on "Common Sense," at a nursing conference and exhibition in London, said that people with tight collars did not drain their brains properly, and often suffered from bad tempers. He had noticed that since women had given up high collars and were wearing garments which gave complete freedom to the neck they had become sweeter tempered.

Not Meant for Household Pets.

If taken young the grizzly is easy enough to handle, for at birth he weighs only from 10 to 20 ounces and is about the size of a full-grown chipmunk. Later the bears run between 350 and 600 pounds in weight, although they have been known to reach 1,500 pounds. This, of course, makes the domestication of grizzlies by apartment house dwellers difficult.

Busy Week for Charles.

Charles was being buttoned into a clean white suit one Sunday morning after a giddy week. "Well," he mused, "this has been some exciting week. Monday we went to the zoo; Wednesday I lost a tooth; Thursday was Gladys' birthday; Friday I was sick; yesterday I had my hair cut, and now here I am rushing off to Sunday school."

OF DEEP HISTORIC INTEREST

The idea of making use of the electric apparatus used in locating ores to discover King John's lost treasure has been put forward by Capt. Hugh Pollard in an English paper. He recalls the fact that, several years ago, Sir William Hope informed the Society of Antiquaries that the ford of the Wash where the treasure was lost in the thirteenth century was reclaimed in the seventeenth, and that the land lies between Walpole and Long Sutton in Lincolnshire. Now this treasure of King John's is of extraordinary interest. Not only did it contain loot from half the castles and churches of England and John's own jewels, but the crown of King Alfred as well. At the close of the seventeenth century King Alfred's jewel, now in the Ashmolean museum, was found some distance north of the site of Athelney abbey in Somersetshire. The gem is made of pure gold and contains colored stones covered by a thick crystal, through which is seen the miniature of a man clothed in a green Saxon tunic. It is formed of enameled mosaic on a blue ground. The man is seated on a throne with a crown on his head and holds a fleur-de-lis in each hand. Round the edge are the words in Anglo-Saxon: "Alfred had me worked." Some say the figure represents Alfred himself. If so, perhaps the crown which the gem depicts is the one which the elements wrenched from the unworthy hands of John all that long time ago, and the one which, it is to be hoped, the twentieth century will recover.

ELEPHANT MADE NO WHIMPER

Underwent Pain of Having Tooth Drawn With Stoicism That Would Shame Many Humans.

It does not require much imagination to realize that pulling an elephant's tooth is something of an engineering as well as a dental job.

An example of this was when Albert, one of the biggest elephants in the Ringling herd at Madison Square garden, New York, had refused to eat and the circus veterinary found a great tooth cavity which was beyond remedy by filling.

The tooth that was giving Albert so much discomfort was as large as a man's fist. After a liberal dose of cocaine had been injected, forceps as big as ice tongs were clamped to the tooth, a rope attached to the forceps, and a squad of trainers made ready to supply the pulling power.

At a given signal the trainers gave a tremendous pull, and out came the huge tooth.

In this sort of dental work the unknown quantity lies in what the elephant will do. Albert had been taken out of the menagerie to prevent panic among the rest of the herd in case he developed an inclination to object to the process. However, he underwent the ordeal calmly, and as soon as his jaw was dressed he was conducted back to his stall.

Put End to Moslem Piracy.

In the sixteenth century European civilization was menaced by the Turks. Moslem pirates were the peril of the seas, of which they were fast gaining control. This danger was averted and destroyed by Don Juan, commander of the Spanish fleet, and his allies, the Italian squadrons and the Venetian and Neapolitan fleets, at a naval battle with the Turks in the Bay of Lepanta. The capture of the enemy's flagship, after the battle had raged an hour and a half, gave Don Juan assurance of victory, so he hoisted the consecrated banner of the Holy league at the mast of the conquering galley, where it could be seen by both friend and enemy. The result was as Don Juan expected—exultation on the part of the Christians and depression and discouragement on the part of the Turks.

After a heavy loss on both sides the Turkish armada was destroyed.

Largest of Inland Seas.

The Caspian sea is the largest inland sea in the world. It has an area exceeding 170,000 square miles, and it is situated between Europe and Asia to the southeast of Russia. It lies in a deep depression, and, in a past age, geologists tell us, probably formed, with the Black and Aral seas, an inland sea of vast extent. Salmon and sturgeon are abundant and the seal fishery is important. The Rivers Ural and Volga flow into it. Astrabad, Baku and Astrakhan are its chief ports. Waterways, consisting of rivers and canals, connect it with the Black and Baltic seas. Of its area, 865 square miles belong to its islands. At the present time its surface lies 86 feet below the level of the ocean.

Materials for Buttons.

For no other human purpose are so many different kinds of materials used as for button-making. Products of the tilled field, the forest, the stream and the sea—vegetable, animal and mineral—are turned to this account.

Buttons are common, middle-class and aristocratic—from the bone button of the laboring man to the jeweled one in the turban of an Indian rajah or the symbol of rank on a Chinese mandarin's cap.

Among the by-products of the pearl button industry are poultry grit, fish food and "condition powders" for hogs and chickens. The waste shell is a constituent of artificial marble and floortile, and an ingredient of jewelers' polishes, soaps and cleansing powders.

Looking for Cat.

Little Paul, age seven, and his aunt were playing with the cat when it ran under the buffet. Stooping down his aunt said: "I can see only his hind quarters." Paul ran to the other end of the buffet and looking under exclaimed: "Oh, I can see its head quarters."

Daring Pioneers.

On June 7, 1769, Daniel Boone, with five other hunters from North Carolina, reached Red river, Kentucky. They were the first white men to explore the territory, forbiddingly called by the Indians "The Dark and Bloody Ground."

Use of India Rubber.

India rubber was used for the first time as an eraser in 1770, when a very small piece was sold for three marks. It was, however, many years later before it was put into general use. Prior to this the crumb of bread was used for erasing purposes.

Bert could not eat porridge without feeling distressed. Scolded one day by his sister for speaking rudely to her girl friend, he said: "I just can't help it, sis; she affects me 'zactly like porridge."

Chicory.

In some parts of Cape Province, South Africa, chicory gives a yield of $250 to $300 per acre, Johannesburg being the chief market.

Bartlett, in his "Familiar Quotations," gives the following: "We read of a certain Roman emperor who built a magnificent palace. In digging the foundation, the workmen discovered a golden sarcophagus ornamented with three circlets, on which were inscribed, 'I have expended; I have given; I have kept; I have possessed; I do possess; I have lost; I am punished. What I formerly expended, I have; what I gave away, I have.'—Gesta Romanorum, Tale XVI."

Your left foot is larger than your right,—in 99 cases out of 100. Science explains it in many ways; but we accept the easiest one, which is that we are a world of left-footed loungers. We lean against posts and door jambs, and we do most of our leaning on the left foot; consequently, through the years it has grown to support the weight that the lazy right foot doesn't. The next time you buy shoes, have your left foot measured first.

The Main Point.

Eve had formed the bad habit of running away, so to impress her fully with the danger of so doing, her father took her on his knee and told her the story of Charlie Ross—how he was coaxed away from his yard one day by a man who promised him some candy and he never came back to his parents. She listened intently, and at the close of the story she looked up and asked: "Well, did he get the candy?"

DOWN TO ZERO

In December, 1918, there were 14,000 more employes on the railroads than in December, 1917. Yet the amount of freight handled in December, 1918, was considerably less than in the corresponding month of 1917.

We are doing less in a day now, and manufacturing less, so there is not as much wealth as formerly. We are all gradually getting poorer.

In Kansas City there is a concern whose lumber mill turned out 70,000 feet a day five years ago.. Now it turns out 45,000 feet, although it has the same number of employes as before and at higher daily wage

A factory that employed 700 people and did a large business in manufacturing overalls, has found that contracts made on the basis of previous outputs are now incapable of fulfillment Wages have been advanced in this factory and working hours so reduced that, figuring the per capita less of time, there are 4800 less working hours each week than a short time ago

A cement concern has reported that a large increase in the number of its employes shows only a serious decrease in production as the outcome There's also trouble in the garment trade Suits have become hard to get and constantly advancing in price, because suits have not been made

This is what has happened already But cheer up, the worst is yet to come There will soon be a falling off in the production of coal The program now includes a six-hour working day and five days a week at 60 per cent increase in wages, and soon coal will be considerably scarcer than it is now and much higher in price And the general movement to limit production continues in all lines of activity, with the result that the workingmen, like every one else, pays twice as much as he did for everything.

We may consent or refuse to face the facts But the truth is that we are carefully and systematically preventing theproduction of the necessities of life. Dollar bills are, we know, plentiful. More so than ever. Nearly everybody has them in abundance (on pay day) and it feels fine to drag them out of our pocket, to unroll the fat wad and gloat over it. The only drawback is that we can never eat it or wear it, and it isn't of much use in buying things. We can, of course, burn it, and at the rate we are going it may soon be cheaper to do that than burn coal; but it takes a lot of them to make a fire that will last We can stitch a bunch of bills together into a patchkork quilt, and sleep under them; it may soon be cheaper than buying blankets, but not quit so warm

But we will all have one consoling chance of reprisal The coal miner can have the fun of compelling the tailor's cutter to freeze; and the cutter can get even by keeping the coal miner in a state of perpetual nakedness.

Yes, a little sarcastic, perhaps, but we are hitting the nail so squarely on the head there is no room for doubt as to what is in store for this country unless we turn so sanity

MILWAUKEE AND KING ALBERT

Berlin would not tolerate a visit from King Albert of Belgium and neithere will Milwaukee, a city now renowned less for even its beer, its socialism and its Berger, than for its pro-Germanism and disloyalty. It is not surprising to hear that the Mayor of Milwaukee, in response to the suggestion that it might be good business to induce the Belgian King and Queen to visit that city, indignantly objected and concluded his heated remarks with—"I stand for the man who works. To hell with the kings."

How King Albert would smile on hearing this. No Mayor of Milwaukee, no Bolshevik, no I. W. W. no ordinary honest business man even, ever dreamed of working as King Albert worked for more than four years to get the predatory Prussian boast out of Belgium. The notion of unlettered rustics that there is no "work" except that which is done with the hands is not what troubles the mind of the Mayor of Milwaukee. What he is thinking of is the fact that he owes his election to people who wanted Germany to win and who are bitterly disappointed because Germany was beaten. A visit of the King and Queen of hoof-trampled Belgium would offend the dominant public setiment of Milwaukee, the most "German" of American cities.

FOR THE REGULARS

Another obvious error in the War Risk Insurance Act has been corrected through the passage of a bill by the Senate restoring to the statute books a law which that act repealed For many years previous to the war the next of kin of a Regular Army officer or soldier received an amount equal to six months of his pay in the event of his death, to tide over the emergency causeed by the loss of the head of the family. Under the leadership of Senator Wadsworth the Senate has voted approval to his measure of Senator Wadsworth the Senate has voted approval to his measure reenacting that law, but providing that any money paid under it shall be deducted from any amount that may become due to the dependent relatives under the clauses of the War Risk Act

Brest Litovsk in Poland, famous as the place where the infamous Peace Treaty between Russia and Germany was signed, is today a place of ruin, disease and terrible suffering. Practically the entire population of 25,000 25,000 of whom 18,000 are Jews, are living in holes in the ground. The hospital is still without windows, doors or any kind of heating. There is no work of any kind to be had and the returning refugees are in desperate need. "It is difficult to believe that Humanity can endure suffering to such an extent" writes Dr. Boris Bogan; "yet in spite of the suffering and starvation, 1100 children are in school."

That the so-called foreign element of the steel workers has furnished the principal material for the strike so far, tallies in a way with the fact that the strength of the American Bolshevist organization is at the present time in the big industrial cities of the East and the Middle West, notably in industries employig great numbers of unskilled workers, and that their enrolled membership is largely foreign—Christian Science Monitor

The failure of the soviet system of government in Russia seems to be thorough. Doubtless when the truth becomes known the world will be astounded at the consequences of the assassination of common sense which gave Russia into the hands of the adventures and half-baked theorists whose rule of the proletariat has proveed to be the ruin of the social fabric in that once powefrul and self-raliant nation

Never have the emotions of mankind been so deeply probed as during the war The time is ripe for a searching of hearts, a recording of men's thoughts and relations The churches realize this and are setting out to recover lost ground and to strengthen their position in moral leadership, of which there never was a greater need than at the present time

There is an underground current of belief that it might be well to have another try at themaking of peace. The statesmen who gathered in Paris were not reprsentative of anything except the class of men who come to the top in politics. They had a special mandate from the people to draw up an international creed.

The Italian government is said to be puzzled to know what to do about Fiume because D'Annunzi is so popular. Doubtless the greater difficulty is that among Italians Fiume is more popular than even D'Annunzie.

At all events D'Annunzio has made sure of a place in history as well as in literature. The most famous of living poets heading a sort of Jamieson raid is a spectacle not soon to be forgotten.

If it pays to get publicity, D'Annunzio, Italian commander and poet, ought to reap large results from his Fiume operations, providing he comes out of the experience with a whole head

We call them moving pictures, picture shows and more often just "movies," but Europeans have but one variable name for them—the "cinema."

If the farmers and everybody strike there'll be others besides the squirrels out in the woods looking for nuts.

King Albert wouldn't have visited Milwaukee anyhow. With its standard beer gone, there are too many other cities with larger attractions.

The tax on beards proposed in England may be accepted as proof that these "labor" members of Parliament are mostly barbers.

President Wilson says the people have been misled. The President's opponents agree with him.

As to Shaving.

When it comes to shaving, we have the word of Pliny for it that Scipio Africanus was the first man who ever shaved everyday. Whether Mr. Africanus shaved himself or was shaved by a barber, Pliny does not say, but it may be gathered from certain remarks of Talleyrand that this is an important point in any man's habits. Asked if Napoleon cut his own whiskers, the great French statesman replied: "Yes. One born to be a king has someone to shave him, but they who acquire kingdoms shave themselves.

Man's Wonderful Makeup.

No difference how sour a man looks, he contains about 60 lumps of sugar of the ordinary cubical dimensions, and to make the seasoning complete, there are 20 spoonfuls of salt. If a man were distilled into water he would make about 38 quarts, or more than half his entire weight. He also contains a great deal of starch, chloride of potash, magnesium, sulphur and hydrochloric acid in his wonderful system.

"Age Cannot Wither."

A tradesman was brought before the magistrate charged with having sold unwholesome articles for consumption as food. The charge was fully proved. "I wish to point out to the court," said counsel for the defense in a dignified tone, "that the house of business that I have the honor to defend was founded in 1802." "Has it renewed its stock since that date?" asked the magistrate.

Explaining "Yankee."

Yankee "was a cant, favorite word with farmer Jonathan Hastings of Cambridge about 1713. . . . A Yankee good horse, or Yankee cider and the like. . . . The students (of Harvard) used to hire horses of him; their intercourse with him, and his use of the term on all occasions, led them to adopt it."—Will Gordon, "Independence of United States," volume 1, letter 12, page 482.

One Good Point About Him.

Robert did not seem to think the new baby's looks were all they might be. It was his first view of a real new baby and he stood looking down at the little mire with wonder in his eyes. Suddenly it began to cry most lustily and he looked up quickly with a pleased expression in his eyes and said: "Well, mother, he has lots of pep in his cry anyway."

Only Thing He Could Do.

Mother wanted to go to the store, so she told Jack to take care of Ramona, the cat, and not let her out of his sight. When mother returned, she found Ramona tied to the fernery with a rope around her neck. Mother asked Jack why he did this and he said: "Well, mother, that is the only way I could keep Ramona in my sight."

Father of Chemistry.

The first great original investigator in the realm of modern chemistry, and the father of that science, was Dr. Joseph Black, who was born of Scotch parentage in France in 1728, and died in Edinburgh 119 years ago. His work as a scientific discoverer revolutionized chemistry and disproved scores of theories that were relics of the superstitious dark ages. By proving that a gas not identical with atmospheric air was found in alkalies, he made it plain that various dissimilar gases might exist, and thus laid the foundation for pneumatic chemistry. He introduced the name and theory of latent heat, and this discovery suggested to Watt, his pupil, his improvements in the steam engine. After a long and useful life Black died while sitting at a table, and so gently that he did not drop the glass of milk which he held at the moment in his hand, but rested it upon his knee, and was, at first, thought to have fallen asleep. Doctor Black's original theories inspired many of the most wonderful and useful inventions of the last century.

Balloting Abroad.

The sign of the cross on the ballot paper indicates the voter's choice in this country, but in some foreign lands the method of voting is different. In Belgium, for instance, on the voting paper a black square with a white spot in the center is printed after each candidate's name. The elector votes by blackening out as many white spots as he is entitled to. In Greece leaden balls are substituted for voting papers. The ballot boxes are so constructed that the voter can drop one of the balls secretly into a chosen receptacle. In some districts of the United States ballot papers have been supplanted by voting machines, which indicate the state of the poll throughout the day of the election. In one or two countries, in order to obtain greater secrecy, the voting papers are inclosed in envelopes before being dropped into the ballot boxes.

Timely Thoughts.

Every first of January that we arrive at is an imaginary milestone on the turnpike track of human life; at once a resting place for thought and meditation, and a starting point for fresh exertion in the performance of our journey. The man who does not at least propose to himself to be better this year than he was last, must be either very good or very bad, indeed: And only to propose to be better is something; if nothing else it is an acknowledgment of our need to be so, which is the first step towards amendment. But, in fact, to propose to oneself to do well, is in some sort to do well, positively, for there is no such thing as a stationary point in human endeavors; he who is not worse today than he was yesterday, is better; and he who is not better, is worse.—Charles Lamb.

Versailles is a little more than 14 miles from Paris. Its palace was built by Louis XIV. This king of brilliant personality and compelling magnetism had a palace at St. Germain, a favorite summer residence of his ancestors, but Louis Quatorze disliked it because from its windows he could see the tower of St. Denis, a church in which slept in vaults and mausoleums the royalty of France. Louis was enjoying the full richness of life and he hated to be reminded that the time would come when inexorable Atropos would snip the thread of his life. And yet it is interesting to note in this connection that when the king actually came face to face with death he remarked, "It is not so hard to die as I thought it would be."

Appendicitis and Tuberculosis.

A French physician has made a report of some observations made by him on patients in whom there were to be noted the presence of congestion and other symptoms of pulmonary tuberculosis existing along with chronic appendicitis and which disappeared completely after the removal of the appendix. The pathologic condition of the appendix was discovered accidentally in one case. In three of the cases consultants did not accept his diagnosis until two of the apparently doomed patients regained their health after the removal of the appendix. The third still rejects an operation.

May Remove Spots.

One of our readers writes that she has moved into a new apartment that is in perfect condition except for several grease spots that are very prominent upon the dining room wallpaper. She asks how they may be removed. If mi'lady calls a little patience to her aid she should be able to remove grease spots from wall paper without much trouble. Let her rub upon the spots some powdered chalk, allow it to remain for about half an hour and then rub it off again with a soft brush or cloth. The disfiguring spots should entirely disappear after several treatments of this sort.

Fighting Off.

Jack and Jim had not kept their New Year resolution to refrain from quarreling. They were at it hammer and tongs. At last, throwing off his coat, Jack danced up to Jim, but Jim didn't want to fight. "No," he said sternly; "I refuse to fight you till you're by yourself." "By myself?" gasped Jack. "I am by myself!" "No, you're not!" said Jim, [illegible] angry. "You're with Wise John.

John was able to persuade Ruth to do most things he desired. One day the children, with their little cousin, Edward, decided to draw pictures. Edward and John each found a pencil, but Ruth was still without one until her mother came to her aid with a big new pencil. John, whose pencil was a blue stub, looked longingly at the new one and then, in a coaxing voice, said: "Ruthie, don't you want this nice pretty blue one? It just matches your eyes." Needless to say, John secured the long pencil.

Right Definition of a Classic.

A classic is properly a book which maintains itself by virtue of that happy coalescence of matter and style, that innate and exquisite sympathy between the thought that gives life and the form that consents to every mood and of grace and dignity, which can be simple without being vulgar, elevated without being distant, and which is something neither ancient nor modern, always new and incapable of growing old.—Lowell.

Arctic Nights.

Viewed solely as a matter of optics, the arctic night is as dark as any night. Explorers in high latitudes say, however, that there are many alleviations of the obscurity. The stars flash keenly, the moon comes along in a regular succession of phases, the snow surface relieves the gloom under conditions of the utmost absence of light, and the aurora borealis is the finest kind of illuminant. Explorers all agree that their men pass the winter night without much difficulty if only there are means of amusement.

Those Blundering Authors!

We referred recently to one of John Galsworthy's American characters calling for "A flash of beer," now here's another writer, Arthur J. Rose, saying, "He is, to use an American colloquialism, 'quick on the uptake.'" Tut! This, as Barrie lovers know, is Scotch.—Boston Transcript.

Prize Mixer.

"A good mixer, isn't he?" "You betcha!" replied a citizen of Grudge. "He can tell more funny stories, borrow more money, pay less of it back, get more signers to petitions, be elected to more lodge offices and do less honest work than any other three men in town."—Judge.

Little Pay but Much Dignity.

The Japanese policeman has little pay but much dignity, and a traveler in that country thinks that the smallness of his weekly income is partly compensated by the fact that he carries a sword. Armed and decorated with this weapon, he is an all-round admonisher and adviser of the Japanese public. The police tell the shopkeepers when to open and close their shops, censor plays and motion picture shows, tell people how to celebrate holidays, and have even been known to advise them as to the number of rice cakes that might properly be given as New Year presents. On the other hand, according to this observer, the police are not much interested in the behavior of burglars, and are quite likely to refrain from mixing in such matters. Possibly the criticism is not altogether just, but it is not impossible that the small pay may provide an argument for not engaging in the more serious risks of the occupation.

May Day.

May day is May 1. In ancient times the Romans used to go on May day in procession to the grotto of Egeria. The May festival, extending from April 28 to May 2, was kept in honor of Flora, goddess of flowers. From this beginning the holiday came to be generally celebrated in Europe, the people stopping work for the day and going "a-Maying," that is, into the woods and fields to enjoy the spring. The people danced round a May pole, which was regarded by some as a heathen performance and was finally forbidden by law in 1644. Idle rowdies made trouble on this day, taking advantage of the festival spirit. In late decades it became an occasion for organized lawlessness in some countries.

Character.

It's not enough to have men say nice things about you. A little push will get any kind of report you crave. But it won't last. A good name is worth everything when it's well earned. But the mere report is only a passive thing. The name must stand for energy, integrity and progress. It's a living something that must be constantly renewed. Most of the failures of life result from efforts to live on reputation. That won't work. The world ever demands new things and it takes ingenuity and power to meet them. You must make a continuous record that knows no tiring and seeks constant improvement. That's the thing that gives character credit. Character is a pervading influence.

AMERICA IS CALLING YOU!

This is no ordinary strike. Rather must it be looked upon as the diabolical attempt of a small group of radicals to disorganize labor and plant revolution in this country.

Do you doubt it? Read these few excerpts from the published Syndicalistic writings of one of the strike leaders:

"THE SYNDICALIST SEES IN THE STATE ONLY AN INSTRUMENT OF OPPRESSION, A BUNGLING ADMINISTRATOR OF INDUSTRY AND PROPOSES TO EXCLUDE IT FROM THE FUTURE SOCIETY."

"THE SYNDICALIST MOVEMENT IS RADICALLY OPPOSED TO DEMOCRACY AND THE STATE."

"Radically opposed to democracy and the State." Is that clear enough? You may as well face the situation squarely. This is no ordinary strike. America is challenged and by the same token, America is calling YOU. Passive indifference will no longer do. The time has come for definite aggressive action. This viper of radicalism that would destroy American liberty and throw the country into the chaos that has caused untold suffering, starvation and death in Russia, must be put down.

The people of this country do not want revolution. They do not want the Russian Soviet. They want only American life and liberty under American Government.

You know how Germany crippled the industries of France, Belgium, Serbia, Russia and other European countries during the war.

Do not let any act of yours help Germany to win the industrial battle from America now that the war is over.

Keep America busy, and prosperous, and AMERICAN.

GO BACK TO WORK.

Amerika je vyzvaná!

Toto nie je obvčajný straik. Ba treba naň hľadeť, ako na diabolský krok niekoľkých radikálov, chcejúcich disorganisovať robotníctvo a tak siať revolúciu v tejto vlasti.

Či vy tomu neveríte? Prečítajte si týchto pár výťahov a brožúry "Syndicalist", napísanej a vydanej jedným z vodcov tohoto straiku:

"Radikálne proti demokratismu a štátu." Či je to dosť jasné? Teda dobre bude, keď nahliadnete do situácie dobre. Toto nie je obyčajný strajk. Amerika je vyzvaná. Na toto nesmiete sa dívať nečinne. Nastala doba rozhodného činu. Tento jedovatý had radikalismu, ktorý chce zničiť americkú svobodu a vrútiť túto vlasť do chaosu, ktorý zapríčinil neopísateľnú biedu, hlad a smrť v Rusku, musí byť porazený.

Občania tejto vlasti nechcú mať revolúciu. My nechceme ani počuť o vláde, akou je ruská sovietska vláda. My chceme len americký život a svobodu pod americkou vládou.

Držte Ameriku zamestnanou, prosperujúcou a americkou.

Choďte nazad do roboty.

Czy ty wątpisz w to? Przeczytaj sobie te kilka wypisów z opublikowanych artykułów Syndykalistycznych pamfletów jednego z przewodniczących tego strajku:

"Syndykalizm widzi w rządzie tylko narzędzie opresyi, nieodpowiednią i niezaradną administracyę przemysłu i proponuje usunięcie takowego zupełnie ze społeczenstwa."

L'America viene sfidata!

Non é questo uno sciopero ordinario — Al contrario esso dovrebbe essere considerato come il diabolico tentativo di un piccolo gruppo di rrivoluzionarii per portare lo scompiglio nel campo del lavoro e accendere la rivoluzione in queste paese.

ALWAYS ON BRINK OF DEATH

Workers in High Explosives Realize What May Be the Result of a Moment's Carelessness.

Explosives are solids which, under certain conditions, suddenly change into heated gas occupying many times the original space of the solids. Ordinary gunpowder, when fired, turns into gas, of which the volume is 4,000 times as great as that of the powder. No wonder the bullet in front of it leaves the muzzle of the rifle in a hurry.

Today there are scores, even hundreds, of different sorts of explosives known to science. Some, such as lyddite, require a very considerable shock to explode them. Others, such as nitroglycerin, are fearfully dangerous to handle, for a few extra degrees of warmth or a very slight jar is sufficient to turn them instantly into gas.

Of the latter type there is nothing quite so unstable as iodide of nitrogen. It has to be made in alcohol. When allowed to dry it appears as a brown powder, and so unstable is this powder that a touch with a feather will set it off. The experiment has been tried of leaving a few grains upon a table mixed with a few grains of sugar. The first bluebottle that flew on the table and began to crawl among the grains caused an explosion.

The mere jarring of the air by a loud shout or a heavy footstep is sufficient to detonate iodide of nitrogen, and it need hardly be added that no one in his senses would attempt to make this terrible stuff. To do so in any quantity would be equivalent to committing suicide.

Nitroglycerin is not so dangerous as this iodide, but at a temperature of only 100 degrees—that is, very little more than the warmth of the human body—it begins to decompose.

Tons of nitroglycerin are turned out every day, for it is the explosive from which guncotton is made. But all the mixing vats are artificially cooled by coils of cold-water pipes.

GREATEST OF ICE PALACES

That Constructed by the Czarina Anne of Russia Is Conceded to Have Been the Finest.

Ice for architectural purposes is used with wonderful results in northern countries. Probably the most remarkable building constructed wholly of ice was the palace built on the Neva by the Czarina Anne of Russia. Large blocks of ice were cut and squared with great care and laid on one another by skillful masons, who cemented the joints with water, which immediately froze. The building, when completed, was 56 feet long, 17¾ feet broad and 21 feet high. It was of but one story. The facade contained a door surmounted by an ornamental pediment, and six windows, the frames and panes of which were all of ice. An elaborate balustrade adorned with statues ran along the top of the facade, and another balustrade surrounded the building at the level of the ground. The ground was further adorned with a life-size figure of an elephant, with his mahout on his back. A stream of water was thrown from the elephant's trunk by day and a flame of naphtha by night.

A tent of ice contained a hot bath, in which persons actually bathed. There were also several cannons and mortars of ice, which were loaded with bullets of ice and iron and discharged.

Meant in Kindness.

A policeman had told two old vagabonds sitting in the park to move on, and as I followed them along the street one of them said:

"Jim, I think he means us kindly."

"Yes, I think he does, too."

"He knows that we'd be apt to sit there until we got a chill and then pneumonia and death might follow."

"That's it."

"Whereas, if he tells us to move on we keep our blood circulating, avoid all danger, and are spared to our friends and the world."

"That's correct."

"Which is very kindly of him indeed, Jim; and if it so happens that we meet him again, we'll impress it on his mind that we know how to feel grateful, even if we bean't high-toned nor rich!"—Baltimore American.

Division of Races.

The division of the earth's population according to race is as follows: Indo-Germanic or Aryan race (white), occupying Europe, America, Persia, India and Austria, about 775,000,000; Mongolian or Turanian (yellow and brown), living in Asia, about 682,000,000; Semitic (white), living in Asia, Arabia, etc., about 65,000,000; negro and Bantu (black), found in Africa, about 150,000,000; Malay and Polynesian (brown), inhabiting Australia, about 35,000,000; American Indian (red), found in North and South America, number, including half-breeds, about 25,000,000.

Extending Charity.

Shut not thy purse strings against painted distress. Act a charity sometimes When a poor creature (outwardly and visibly such) comes before thee, do not stay to inquire whether the "seven small children," in whose name he implores thy assistance, have a veritable existence. Rake not into the bowels of unwelcome truth to save a halfpenny. It is good to believe him. If he be not all he pretendeth, give, and under a personate rather of a family think (if thou pleasest) that thou hast relieved an indi- —Charles Lamb.

ANOTHER OF WAR'S RESULTS

Direct Connection Traced Between Great Conflict and the Annoying Scarcity of Laundresses.

This is from Alexandria, our neighboring city down the Potomac.

Housekeepers there are having quite a time getting "help," especially some one to do the family wash. The necessity for clean clothes is one which devolves upon civilized beings. Wars may come and wars may go, but the washtub and washboard go on forever.

But it has been hard to get a laundress in Alexandria. War-time conditions have enabled many who earned their living at the tub to turn to less arduous pursuits, with the result that there is a scarcity of "wash ladies." The condition is one paralleled in many other cities.

"Aunt Lucy," said one Alexandrian woman, addressing a colored woman whom she had known for many years, "don't you know some one who can do my washing?"

"No, ma'am I don't know no one," she said.

The woman made a last attempt.

"'Deed, chile," said Aunt Lucy, "I don't have to do no washing no more."

"Why?" asked the woman.

"Well, honey, hit is jes like this," explained Aunt Lucy with a nice distinction: "De Civil war made us free. And dis here worl' war has made us independent."—Washington Star.

EAGER TO SEE ELEPHANT

First One That Was Brought to the United States Aroused the Utmost Curiosity.

Nowadays, when summer in the United States would hardly seem itself without the coming of a circus, it is difficult to realize the excitement aroused by the first exhibition of an elephant. A now-forgotten showman, Hackaliah Bailey, is said to have imported the first elephant nearly a hundred years ago, and the animal was a whole show in himself. The circus tent had not yet come into being, and the elephant was shown in barns in the Eastern states that then held the bulk of the population. To prevent the public from seeing the show without charge, the elephant traveled from place to place in the night; but even so, the public refused to be wholly circumvented, and small companies gathered with bonfires ready to light when the strange creature came lumbering past on his way to the next town. Sometimes, however, the management defeated this intention by sending along the road a horse built up to look like an elephant in the dark, and when the bonfire had been lighted and had burned out, the real elephant followed. —Christian Monitor.

The Way to the Pole.

Service with the American air forces in France adds weight to the opinion of Donald B. MacMillan, Arctic explorer and leader of the Crocker land expedition, that the airplane is not adapted for a dash to the pole, and that the cost of such a trip by dirigible would be prohibitive. In his own future explorations, Mr. MacMillan says, he expects to depend on the "ever-faithful dogs" for conveyance. The airplane is, in his judgment, impracticable for several reasons, one of which is, he says, sufficient to discount the idea of successful Arctic exploration by hardy airmen. The frozen north offers no smooth fields of ice on which the explorer could make a landing. A dirigible might start from a properly equipped hangar in Labrador and hope to return, but the total cost of the expedition would probably be about $1,000,000.

In Apple Blossom Time.

A wedding I attended was held in an orchard in apple blossom time. One of the women wore a red shirtwaist. In the midst of the service a bull in a pasture in the next field rushed in at the red shirtwaisted woman, who climbed a tree before the bull arrived. The rest of the party and myself did likewise. The bride's veil fell off, which embarrassed her exceedingly. The shirtwaist was thrown over the fence and the bull subdued, and the wedding continued in peace. The woman hastened home after a new shirtwaist, wearing her husband's frock coat.—Exchange.

In England and in Scotland, before the war, were many hunting ranges and sporting grounds. During the war, however, these were cut down to supply munition factories at home and armies abroad. Never before, it is said, have these countries been so bare of timber as they are at present. But now they are preparing to replant their forests. The old ones were first of all ornamental but incidentally they proved useful. These which they are planting now are to be first of all useful and also, of course, ornamental.

Remorse.

"So you were in a German prison camp?"

"Yes."

"How was the food there?"

"Don't ask me to answer a question like that, but I'll say this much: If I ever run across the old lady I used to board with"—overcome by the recollection of the mean remarks he used to make about those Sunday night suppers of cold ham and grits the returned doughboy applied a handkerchief to his eyes and hastily walked away.—Birmingham Age-Herald.

TOM MARSHALL'S READY WIT

Kentucky Orator Hard to Corner, as Frankfort Belle Found Out to Her Great Discomfort.

Tom Marshall of Kentucky, who flourished as an orator and wit in the last century, was a gallant gentleman who, opportunity offering, distributed his osculatory activities without regard to age, race or previous condition of servitude. On Christmas eve he met in the hall the pretty octoroon slave maid of Miss Breckenridge, a society leader and belle. Tom kissed her and she was so responsive and he so liberal that he expressed his appreciation by giving her what he supposed was a $20 gold piece. In fact, it was a gold medal that had been presented to him by the citizens of Frankfort, Ky., for some services rendered to that burg. The girl tried to change it, when the storekeeper, supposing it to be stolen, impounded it and gave it to her mistress. The girl being called to account admitted that it was a Christmas gift from Mr. Marshall and confessed that the hall was dark and that Tom kissed her before she could help it.

Miss Breckenridge determined to give Mr. Marshall a lesson in good manners, so that evening at a brilliant social function she assembled half a dozen Louisiana belles about her and, calling Tom to the group, handed him the medal and said: "Mr. Marshall, here is something you parted with in the dark. It is restored to you in the light." Tom replied promptly: "It was dark, sure enough, but believe me, Miss Breckenridge, if I had known it was you I wouldn't have given you a cent."

BEAUTY NOT AT FIRST SEEN

Makers of Furniture Were Slow to Recognize the Supreme Worth of Mahogany Wood.

Like the use of a great many of the factors connected with the arts and the sciences, the discovery of the beauty of the grain of mahogany for furniture was accidental, says a London contemporary. The story goes that a certain West Indian captain who had brought back to England some planks of mahogany as ballast, decided to give the wood to his brother, a Doctor Gibbons, then building a house on King street, Covent Garden. But the planks were so hard that the carpenters objected, and the plan for using them fell through.

Some time later Mrs. Gibbons wanted a small box made, and the doctor sent the mahogany to a cabinetmaker. In his turn the cabinetmaker objected to the hardness of the wood, but the doctor persisted so much in his request that the order was finally executed.

The finished box polished so nicely that the doctor ordered a bureau made of the same wood. The cabinetmaker displayed that in his shop window before delivering it. The duchess of Buckingham saw it and begged enough wood from the doctor to have it duplicated, and mahogany furniture soon after came into favor.

Home Partnership.

The president of a woman's college in the United States believes that every woman should be brought up to earn her own living, if necessary, but adds: "I am not willing to say that a wife and mother in a home does not earn hers. I believe that in most cases she does. The average marriage is a partnership, in which the wife does her share in keeping up the home and caring in it for the children, and the children belong equally to the man and woman, and are their joint responsibility.

"I certainly do want women to have all their rights. What I look forward to is the day when no woman shall be at a disadvantage, because of her sex, and when no woman shall be able to take an unfair advantage because of it. Both conditions exist today, and each is a necessary corollary of the other."

Races of the World.

The Slavs are one of the chief divisions of the Aryan race. They are divided, as a race, into two leading families, the eastern and western Slavs. The eastern Slavs comprise the Russians (Great Britains, Little Russians and White Russians); Bulgarians, Serbo-Croats, including the Serbians and Montenegrins; and Slovenes in Carinthia, Carniola, and part of Styria. The western Slav family is divided into the Poles, in Russia, Austria and Prussia, and the Kassubes; the Czechs, or Bohemians, and the Moravians, with the Slovaks in Hungary; and the Lusatian Wends or Sarbs in Saxony and Prussia. The theory is that their original home was in Volhynia and White Russia.

Walnut Oil.

In France the cheap walnuts are used for their oil, and 100 pounds of walnuts average about eighteen pounds of oil. Walnut oil is used in France more than olive oil, but is not manufactured at all in the United States.

Walnuts as food are composed as follows: Black walnuts, refuse 74.1 per cent, water 6 per cent, protein 4.2 per cent, fat 14.6 per cent, carbohydrates 3.0 per cent and ash 5 per cent.

English walnuts are composed of refuse 58.1 per cent, water 1 per cent protein 6.9 per cent, fat 26.6 per cent carbohydrates 5.8 per cent and ash 1.5 per cent

Most Famous Chinese Dish.

What has been considered by Oriental epicures as the daintiest dish in China, the birds' nest, is the product of the sea swallow, which constructs its nest of a gelatinous substance taken from sea moss. The Chinese method of preparing the nests for the table is to soak them and boil them in milk until they are very tender. Then they are placed in clear soup and are ready for use. On his trip to China, General Grant was much feted, and one of the dishes set before him was the birds' nest.

Keeping Even Temper.

Weariness, tired nerves, poor digestion, sudden demands, an overdose of perspiration and a dozen other things will unbalance the temper. You can't always regulate yourself, but you can do a great deal toward keeping the body in trim. You can see to it that the poor old back does not get a load too heavy to be borne. You can also try to guard against surprises that unbalance the mental mechanism and send the mercury skipping skyward. It's the best way to keep an even temper.

Keep Up "Good Times."

Keeping interested does not just point toward the serious side of life. It points to recreation—that absolutely necessary constituent of sane, healthy living. Set yourself in the swim of "good times," times that will make you laugh and forget your troubles. There is nothing easier than to slip out of the way of having good times as we get older, and yet the capacity for enjoyment never dies in us, though in our morbid perversity of mental vision we insist to ourselves that it has left us.

Ants as Excavators.

Everyone has observed trees that have been hollowed out by ants, and it is apparent that their biting powers are equal to working in the hardest woods. In tunneling, ants are expert, and authentic cases are known of their tunneling under ditches and streams. Indeed, a South American ant is said to have excavated a tunnel under the bed of the Parahyba river at a place where it is as broad as the Thames at London bridge.
